Vehicles Damaged In Weekend Mishaps

Damage was estimated at $1,250 when vehicles driven by Ann Elizabeth McCullough, 25, of Toronto and Gerri Joseph Greenham, 20, of Willowdale came into collision on the Harburn Road east of Haliburton at 12:05 p.m. last Friday. Two passengers in the McCullough vehicle received minor injuries. Ontario Provincial Police Constable F. W. Magee of the Minden Detachment investigated.

A vehicle driven by James Ronald Blanch, 25, of Weston went out of control on Highway 35 at the Red Umbrella Inn just north of Minden at 1:00 a.m. on Saturday last resulting in minor injuries to four people, all passengers in the Blanch vehicle. Damage was estimated at $600. Constable Larry Scott of the Minden Detachment of Ontario Provincial Police investigated.

Alvin William Spencer, 29, of Scarborough suffered lacerations to his face when the vehicle he was driving left the Crystal Lake Road about ten miles south of Kilmount at 3:50 p.m. on Sunday. Damage to the Spencer vehicle was estimated at $2,500. O.P.P. Constable D. Kellett of the Cobocok Detachment investigated.

A three-car rear-end collision on Highway 35 at the Minden bypass on Sunday resulted in $1,000 damage to a vehicle driven by Larry David Neil, 22, of Rexdale, $300 damage to a vehicle driven by William Bryers, 18, of Scarborough, and $100 damage to a vehicle driven by Herbert John Britton, 28, of Bobcaygeon. There were no injuries. Constable W. T. Devereaux of the Minden O.P.P. Detachment investigated.

Man Loses Leg At Martin's Mill

John H. Robinson, aged 31, of Maynooth received serious injuries last Thursday, July 16, when he accidentally slipped and fell into a log conveyor chain at the Martin Lumber Company, Harcourt.

He was rushed to the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital and then transferred to Peterborough Civic Hospital where his right leg was amputated. He also received serious injuries to his left hand.

Mr. Robinson was working near a log conveyor in the Chip Plant, when he slipped and caught his leg in the conveyor.

To Install Artificial Ice

An item of interest to all skaters of Wilberforce and district is that, with the assistance of as many volunteers as are able and willing, the Community Centre Board will install the artificial ice plant this year.

Our M.P.P. for Victoria and Haliburton, Mr. R. Glen Hodgson, has informed the Board that a grant of $5,000.00 has been approved for this purpose to help cover the cost of the installation materials. This grant comes through the office of the Honourable Mr. Stuart, Minister of Agriculture.

As soon as the summer rush is over work will commence on this project, and it is hoped to be operative long before Christmas.

Maple Leaf Coach Speaks At Rotary

John McClelland, Coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, was the guest speaker at the Haliburton Rotary Club meeting last Thursday night.

He told of some of his experiences in his first year of coaching the Leafs. The speaker went on to say that finishing last is never very popular and that this year they are hoping to finish in a playoff position.

This was Mr. McClelland's first trip into the area and he was very impressed with the Haliburton Highlands and the Haliburton Hockey Haven.

The speaker was introduced by Jim Gregory, General Manager of the Maple Leafs.

Over 70 members and guests were on hand for this meeting.

Marionette Show

For the third year, the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts is lucky to be able to present for your enjoyment Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kendall of Cloyne, Ontario and their Marionette Show.

Adults and children will be welcomed at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Tuesday evening, August 4, at 8:00 o'clock.

Most children are entranced with puppets, and two years ago one young girl in the audience, Miss Nora Zylstra, became so interested she began experimenting and soon became expert at making her own puppets. She has since appeared on television and won a first prize at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall are a retired couple, who regularly give puppet shows at their cottage on Lake Mackaway, with the assistance of the Department of Lands and Forests and resort owners in the area.

The date is Tuesday, August 4; the place, Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Businessmen Sleep On Their Premises

Owing to the great increase in break-ins and other acts of vandalism some Haliburton businessmen are sleeping on their premises, and in the event that they should confront any intruders on their premises these gentry will end up in the hospital rather than a jail.

It is small wonder that people who operate restaurants, coin washes, stores and other business enterprises, and in most cases put in long hours to earn an honest living, are really fed up with conditions as they exist in this village at present.

An example of what kind of protection we are getting occurred a week ago last Sunday morning when three persons were noticed driving away in a service van owned by Gerald Barry Limited

Plumbing & Heating. Ray Scott, who looks after the Laundromat in Haliburton, immediately called the Ontario Provincial Police Office in Minden but no one was on duty, so he then called Peterborough Detachment, but to no avail. The truck and the many valuable tools that it contained are still missing.

Is this the satisfaction that the businessmen who recently signed a petition for better law enforcement in this village can expect? If conditions are not improved here our businessmen and other law abiding citizens will have no other recourse than to form a vigilante group, take the law into their own hands and give Highland Street and the neighbouring vicinity a housecleaning job in order that citizens may be able to sleep in comfort.

Boxing Card An Attraction At Minden Rotary Carnival

The Minden Rotary Club Carnival is all set to go and the big event will be held next Wednesday and Thursday, July 29 and 30.

On Wednesday night the two-day event will be kicked off with a Giant Parade starting at 7:00 p.m. and finishing up in front of the Arena. Both nights will feature a midway outside the Arena with games and rides. On Thursday night a Log Sawing Contest, Nail Driving and Dancing Contests. There will be entertainment for everyone.

One of the highlights of the Thursday evening programme will be a Stage Show and an outstanding Boxing Card. Boxers are still needed for the big event and if you are 8 years to 13 years old and would like to box three rounds at the Carnival on Thursday night, July 30, please contact Al Grier or Don Campbell at Minden. A weigh-in and practice will be held at the Minden Arena on Monday, July 27.

The Colour T.V. Draw will also be held on Thursday evening.

So plan now to attend the Minden Rotary Carnival next Wednesday and Thursday, July 29 and 30.

Family At Wedding When House Burns

LINDSAY (ENS) — A house in Wilberforce received an estimated $7,000 to $8,000 damage in a fire late last Saturday evening. The house belonged to Harry Clarke of Wilberforce, who is a farmer and a roofer, and also the Construction Safety Officer for the County of Haliburton.

On Saturday Mr. Clarke's daughter Brenda had been married to Brian Kellett of Bancroft in Wilberforce, and the Clarke family were at the wedding reception in Bancroft when the fire took place.

The frame house received damage to the porch, kitchen and attic, and smoke and water damage to the rest of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and a son and another daughter reside in the house.

The fire was reported to the Monmouth Fire Department by a passing motorist.

Fire Chief Floyd Tighe said that firemen were at the scene until 3:00 a.m. Sunday.

Good Crowd At Legion Carnival

The Haliburton Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 Carnival held here last night attracted a very good crowd, with everyone who attended having an evening of fun and enjoyment on the various rides and games.

The winner of the Draw for the 1970 Pontiac Tempest 4-Door Sedan was Mr. Art Ward of Wig-A-Mog Inn, Haliburton, with Ticket No. 943.

An Open Letter To My Neighbours:

July 20, 1970.

Someone with malice aforethought released Caesar's chain last Saturday night and I could hear him barking somewhere in the direction of the swamp. The chain was wound around a part of my garage door in such a way that only human hands could release it. I put on a pair of rubber boots, took a flashlight, and searched the swamp and bush for an hour or two and finally located him all tangled up. Needless to say, we were both very happy to see each other. You see, Caesar and I are good friends and hold each other in high esteem, and so it was a happy ending to what might have been a very sad affair.

It is a cruel and inhuman thing to keep a dog on a chain all his life, but it is especially cruel and inhuman to release a dog with a chain on his collar making it possible for him to become entangled in some remote spot where he cannot fend for himself. Whoever did this to my dog was known to my dog and apparently considered by him to be a friend. However, if this person was a friend then Caesar needs no enemies.

This is the second time my dog has been released in the past two weeks with the chain left dragging. So, if you have a dog chained up watch out — there is a monster at large releasing dogs.

I would also ask my well-intentioned neighbours to please refrain from feeding my dog chewed-over bones and scraps. He has a clean mouth and sound teeth and I would like them to stay that way.

Let us hope the day will come when all living creatures will be treated with compassion and understanding. What man does not understand he fears, and what he fears he hates and hate leads to violence and destruction.

Mercedes Pretty.

Letters To The Editor

Re "The Voice of Monmouth"

Dear Mr. FCR:

Upon reading the last several issues of the Haliburton Echo I am appalled at the column that is supposed to represent Monmouth Township.

The article last week concerning the author's wife's washing was something less than stimulating and certainly if the Echo has nothing better to print than the mundane routines of life (i.e. washing) then it too must be in a sad state. In still another article we were told the temperature of day from another anecdote and I'm sure that this breathtaking information left most of the readers of the Echo breathless. Mr. Rendall concluded last week's article, quote: "I hope I haven't complained too much", which maybe indicates that even he is getting a bit disgusted with the petty "digs" that he has taken at other township residents.

One of the major complaints of Mr. Rendall is the fact that he feels the waterskiers are ruining the fishing in his beloved Otter Lake and with this unqualified judgment believes they should be banned. Well I have checked local records and find surprisingly enough that Otter Lake is not owned by a Mr. C. W. Rendall nor is he the guardian of same. After consulting other material printed by the Ontario Government I find that this source recommends that our lakes be used for all kinds of recreation including fishing, boating, swimming, and waterskiing just to name a few.

Just to set the record straight I am not complaining about an individual's right to put an article in print but I am complaining when this right is abused by using the news media as a means of publicizing petty quarrels and grievances in a "below-the-belt" manner. I would like to suggest that either he change the format of his writing to express the views of all the residents of Monmouth Township or revise the heading of his column to read Rendall's Ravings, The Otter Lake News or Dear Diary.

Roy Hoare.

P.O. Box 186, Haliburton.
July 21, 1970.

Dear Sir:

I hope you will see fit to publish this letter in its entirety for although it is long it is our belief that the information contained in it is essential to the well-being of this community.

Phosphorous is an important nutrient for aquatic life, however, when it is present in excess of the concentration required for normal plant growth a favourable environment for the increase of algae and plant nuisances is created. When these plants decompose as a part of their natural life cycle large amounts of oxygen contained in the water are used in the process. The resulting "dead lakes" are recognizable by their scum and their odour.

The Government of Ontario has admitted that detergents are an important source of phosphorous in municipal and industrial effluent and so has passed legislation limiting phosphate levels in detergents to a maximum of 20 percent by August 1970 and less than one percent by January 1971. The Federal Government has also recognized the dangers of high phosphate detergents, and now has taken action to eventually ban their production.

Pollution Probe, a Toronto based organization, first attracted attention to the problem of phosphate pollution early in 1970 by the publication and distribution of a list of detergents and other household cleansers stating their phosphate content. These lists were received by most food stores in this area but unfortunately were given only a token recognition. Haliburton merchants continued to stock and sell these pollutants. Residents continued to purchase and use them.

Phosphorous is interesting in its chemical composition to the extent that it is not broken down or destroyed by treatment in septic tanks or filtration through weeping tiles or soil. Thus no matter how effective the sewage treatment phosphates from laundry products reach the water

Anna Jones Passes Away

A businesswoman who was known not only in this community but far beyond in the person of Anna Bell Jones passed away in Peterborough on Monday of this week, after a long illness.

She was the beloved wife of the late Fred Jones of Haliburton, and loving mother of Miriam Lyons and dear grandmother of Allen.

Starting on a small scale, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones built Drag Lake Lodge and developed one of the most successful tourist resorts in the Highlands of Haliburton which became well and favourably known not only in Canada but south of the border as well. It has been said that any business can be a success if you work hard enough at it and we doubt if any couple worked harder than the late Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Miriam and Allen, and though they are left with a heavy load we feel that the good service and the excellent quality of the meals provided in the past by this well known resort will be maintained.

CHURCH NEWS

FULL GOSPEL NEWS

Things have been going on all burners at the Full Gospel Light-house this past month.

Student Minister Stan Powers has called on many homes in the village besides driving the Sunday School bus and preaching every Sunday evening.

A successful Sunday School Picnic was held at Twelve Mile Lake, and a Congregational Farewell was offered to the Homer Browns who will be departing for South River later this summer.

The Sunday School, which carries on throughout the summer, has been reaching new heights in attendance. On Sunday, July 12, a total of 61 students attended and the church service at 11:00 a.m. comfortably filled the Church. Anyone interested in Sunday School for the summer are invited to call Mr. Powers at 457-1597.

The men of the Church worked for a couple of nights and finished levelling the unsightly building next door to the Church, preparing a place for a needed parking lot. At the same time the inside of the building has been finished.

DAN DAVISON TALKS ON DRUG-TAKING

On Sunday, July 19, Dan Davison moved congregations at Haliburton and Lochlin with his talk on the causes of drug-taking and with his personal testimony.

Miriam Taylor and Sharon Rothenbush, in duets and solos, not only delighted those who heard them but also convinced all of their sincere faith.

On Sunday, July 26, Dan Davison will be back with the whole Christian Chorale whose singing and accompaniment on guitars bass violins last year thrilled so many.

The Women's President, Isabelle Gibbs, said she hoped that everyone who came enjoyed meeting the people and the social time, and that they took home some baking and reading material.

The proceeds are going toward the cost of the Church walls.

The Luckiest Guy In The World

By RUTH HERON

He moved forward with the rest of the group crossing the stage. He paused and knelt as the others did, then moved off — the proud possessor of a Bachelor of Arts degree.

It had been a long uphill struggle but he, Grant Brooks, was now a university graduate. Even though while at college he'd never read a book or taken a single note, he had earned the right to be Grant Brooks, B.A.

Grant was born on November 30, 1931, in the town of New Liskeard in Northern Ontario. His life was pretty ordinary until just before his 13th birthday. Then the roof fell in and life as Grant knew it ground to a sudden halt. He developed a very rare neurological disease — Devic's Disease — which caused total blindness, impaired co-ordination, lack of hypersensitivity in the hands as well as paralysis from the waist down.

He was cut off from school, from friends, from all the familiar boyhood activities. Doctors said he would never walk again. A young mother who lived nearby wasn't so sure. She had been a dancing teacher before she married. She believed that if the muscles in Grant's legs and feet could be strengthened, he could learn to walk again. She asked if she could teach Grant to dance. She began by sitting on the floor beside Grant's chair and moving his feet to music. After a while he was able to move his feet by himself. Soon he could go through a complete tap dance routine while hanging onto a metal bar. Finally he was able to take a step, then two, then three . . . His teacher worked hours and months, patiently helping him to exercise — coaxing his legs to do their job. Grant spent nearly every waking hour practicing. He did so much in fact, he wore the paint off the floor in the basement. It was all worth it — every frustrating, exhausting moment. Grant learned to walk! Today he can walk miles with only his white cane to guide him.

Between 1947 and 1956 Grant attended school — first the Ontario School for the Blind and then the high school in Haliburton, Ontario. Because of the lack of sensitivity in his fingers, he couldn't learn to read Braille. Since he had no finger co-ordination he couldn't type. Without some means of conquering the three R's Grant's years at school proved rather fruitless.

The most sensitive part of Grant's body is his tongue. He tells time on his Braille watch by using the tip of his tongue. Not until the electric typewriter came along was Grant able to overcome the writing problem. He now types letters for himself — laboriously and painstakingly, but he does it — by using his tongue instead of his fingers.

For about 10 years Grant looked unsuccessfully for a job. Every time he'd think he had one nailed down, some flaw would crop up to haunt him — something he couldn't find a way to handle. During this period he did all sorts of odd jobs at his parents' small hotel — from receptionist to training staff. In 1965 Grant was accepted at the University of Toronto as a mature student. He lived in residence and attended University College. The professors and his fellow students were always exceptionally helpful and understanding.

He attended lectures, listening carefully, his well-trained memory deftly sorting and filing an amazing array of facts and figures. At nights other students read to him — great tomes on psychology, anthropology, philosophy, Spanish — the type of auxiliary information so necessary to the complete grasp of any subject. Since most of his 'good samaritans' were girls — 16 read regularly each week — Grant had to obtain special dispensation to have them in his room!

Examinations posed quite a problem. At first Grant was assigned a stenographer who read the questions to him. She then took his answers in shorthand, read them back for corrections and finally typed the information. Working in this manner often took up to six hours for one exam! The last couple of years, all examinations were taken orally. This proved a most satisfactory method since the instructor could tell almost at once how thoroughly Grant knew a course.

As Grant neared the end of his course, he began to think about finding a job — but every lead seemed to end with a solid stone wall. He had hoped a college education would make up in part for his multiple handicaps but the fact that he couldn't make notes or in some way check reference material always seemed to scare off prospective employers.

In November 1969 Grant received his degree — that magic formula which should open the door to employment. January 1970 came and went — still no job. Grant was overwhelmed with frustration and disappointment as he had never been before. Somewhere there had to be a job he could do — but where!

Finally in May his chance came. He obtained a job at George Brown College in the Information Centre. The college offers 150 day courses and 350 evening courses at its six campuses. In his capacity as Information Officer, Grant must be able to answer any question about the college curriculum. To do this he has committed the complete syllabus to memory. He is a walking George Brown College encyclopedia!

Grant Brooks has finally arrived! He has a university degree, a job and a small apartment close to the office. What more could a fellow want!

"I'm the luckiest guy in the world — bar none!" declares Grant.

OUR INSTANT GARDEN

It's high summer, with a hot sun, a blue sky and perfect conditions for sitting at the picnic table typing this column. But there's something wrong, something off-key.

It took me a while, but I've got it. Instead of the lush green jungle that used to encompass our back yard, there are splotches of colour everywhere, destroying the solid green effect I'm so used to.

My wife has been off on another of her wild, off-season bursts, like doing the spring house-cleaning the week before Christmas.

It all began with one rose. She received a large rose-bush, ready for planting, as a gift. Our rose-bed, like the rest of our flower beds, was suffering severely from malnutrition and neglect. They were like children who undergo the same treatment — stunted and retarded. Our roses had shrunk to three, one dead, one dying and one which produced about two tiny blooms a year.

In a fit of ill-considered fury after some barbed remark from my wife, I went out and dug up the lot and planted the new one. I should have put it quietly in the tool-shed and let it die a natural death.

It only took the one log to break the jam. The rose was a beauty. It looked so lovely and so lonely that the old lady, no gardener, sent me out to buy another. I got a dandy for fifty cents, age, sex, colour and kind unknown, but dubious.

The boss was disgusted, but we planted the thing anyway. Then she bought two more and stuck them in, with peat moss, fertilizer and invocations to the gods.

I thought that might bring a little peace, but she'd caught fire. In a flurry of self-disgust, she went at her window-box like a wolf coming down on the fold. It was a dilapidated object that runs along the side of the garage.

I rather like it as it had been for several years, with the fresh, green weeds spilling down over the side. But there was no reasoning with her.

Out came the weeds as if they were scorpions. Off I went for a carload of zinnias, begonias and other bewildering things. Working as carefully as a surgeon, so the window-box wouldn't fall off the wall, she planted it and gave it a coat of paint.

But we had some flowers left over. That meant I had to dig up a corner of another crumbling flower-bed, and we planted the leftovers. I was confident this was the end. She hasn't even pulled a weed for years.

No such luck. Blazing with enthusiasm, or simple insanity, she shot me off for another carload, zinnias and marigolds. By the time I returned, she had weeded the front half of our moribund tulip bed. She had dug little holes and set in them a handsome row of orange and yellow marigolds in half an hour. An instant garden.

Now she has her eye on the old peony bed. Once a mass of green and bloom, it has shrivelled to a few sickly plants producing eight blooms. It seems it is to be dug up and completely replanted with another exotic species.

With all this new beauty, of course, we had to buy a new water-sprinkler. The old one was perfectly all right. It cost $2.95 ten years ago and water would still come out of it, though it didn't really sprinkle any more, just shot out two jets in opposite directions. New one, $11.00. She's fascinated, and keeps me moving it about all day, from one flower-bed to another. "No, no. Move it another two inches to the right."

It's all ridiculous, of course. Even I know that you don't plant flower-beds in the middle of July. They'll all be dead in a week, either from the haste with which they've been ripped from the womb and thrown into life, or from simple drowning.

I liked the old jungle, with the odd tiger lily struggling up through the milkweed, or a few hardy daisies reaching for the sun. Why can't women leave things alone?

Sunshine Scratches From A Small Town

Monday was a red letter day for all the people at the Laundromat as wealthy James Watson (known to his friends as Sieve) bought the Cokes for everyone. This act of generosity was much appreciated by his pals, and Jim said that it made him feel so good that he plans to do it again in the near future but this time including steaks with the Cokes. (Yeah, Jim.)

David Watson of the notorious early morning Orillia gang is just bubbling with enthusiasm over his lifetime membership in the Pig and Whistle Club.

Anyone wishing an ingenious method for cleaning smelt please phone Charlie Hughes (anyone without a wringer washer need not bother to call).

Is there any truth to the rumour that Lee Clarke's favourite country is sunny Italy (the land of the grapes)?

The Wilberforce Ball Club just completed one of its most successful weeks (it was not scheduled). Seriously, the club is hoping for great fan support in the upcoming two final games and the playoffs.

That Bob Daniels is really hooked on convertibles, first a car and now a bait shop.

If you are reading this column to find out who visited whom forget it.

It should be evident over the past few weeks that alcohol and automobiles just don't mix, so let's wise up before someone pays the ultimate price.

Eastward Bound By Bus

By C. W. RENDALL

On Sunday, July 12, 1970, we left the cottage in the morning at 6:45 a.m. and arrived at Bancroft at 7:30 a.m., on our way to the East Coast.

We boarded our bus at the Fowler Coach garage and found most of our fellow travellers had already arrived. We met a number of our friends from last year's western trip and got on the road, our driver Mr. Ivan Fowler. We picked up more of our fellow travellers in Bancroft and the last two at Eldorado where everybody was introduced.

From there we proceeded down Highway 62 and on to the 401. The weather was perfect and everyone was in good spirits and looking forward to a good trip. Our hostess on this year's trip was Miss Lib Sebben.

The traffic on the 401 was fairly light and we made good time, making our first stop for coffee at Kingston. From there we made good time and stopped at Upper Canada Village at 12:00 noon for lunch.

In the afternoon we were still on the 401 and crossed the border into "La Belle Province" Quebec at Reviere Beaudette at about 1:50 p.m. The highway now is No. 20 East and the signs are in French and English. A number of things are different too; for instance, there are no service stations on the highway and to obtain gas and any service for your car or food for yourself you have to leave the highway and proceed quite a way from the highway. I noticed quite a number of cars stranded by the side of the road and one car was travelling along with a flat tire, which meant that he would have to buy a new tire when he arrived at a gas station off the highway. I don't think this is a good policy to prevent service stations on the highway as it tends to keep the tourists from visiting Quebec. I also noticed that the farms are set out in strips with trenches in the middle; we were told that this dates back to early days in Quebec when the land was granted to the early immigrants and it was laid out in long narrow lots from the river and when the farm was broken up among the family everybody wanted river frontage and as the families were large it was broken up into long narrow lots (I cannot say that this is the truth, but it does sound reasonable).

We were by this time nearing Montreal and could see the tall stacks which are the means of keeping the air in the tunnel clear; as we pass through we see rows of lights overhead and are told that if there is an accident in any line of traffic the light overhead turns red and that traffic line is avoided, thus keeping the air purer than it would be in the event of a stoppage of traffic. I also noticed that in places near Montreal the speed limit is shown as maximum 45 or 60 as the case might be and a minimum of 30 — whether they can enforce a minimum is questionable. What do they do, get behind and push?

The highway signs are most interesting, for instance an open can with the lid hanging on and a line drawn across the can; this I think means "no litter". They don't have any words on them. Then you see a knife and fork, a gas pump, a picnic table and a house — this, I suppose, means "food, gas, picnic grounds and a motel". On all the signs of this nature you have to use your imagination. I guess it keeps the kids in the car quiet trying to figure out the meaning.

We arrived at our first overnight stop, Levis, Quebec, so I have to stop. I have been kind of long-winded on this the first day but have seen so many things that might prove interesting to anyone who has or who has not travelled in Quebec. Tomorrow we are on the road at 8:00 a.m., so I have to get things done and get up for breakfast at 7:00 a.m.

Our mileage for today was 458 miles.

Local School Gets Thank You Note

Well-known Canadian broadcaster Betty Kennedy sent a letter to Miss Joan Harrison and Grade Three of the Wilberforce Public School, Wilberforce, Ontario, recently to give thanks for a contribution of $6.76 received for "Project Schoolhouse".

The funds will help build a school in the Commonwealth Caribbean Island of St. Vincent as Ontario's International Education Year project. The United Nations designated 1970 as IEY year, to help promote better understanding between peoples of the world.

Mrs. Kennedy is Chairman of The Minister's Advisory Committee on Educational Assistance which was established by the Honourable William Davis last year.

The Committee stresses that the drive for funds is a pennies and nickels program. Chartered banks throughout the province are co-operating in the project by making collections from school principals, and are offering receipts on the spot.

table intact after the process of natural land drainage.

It seems ironic that the greatest danger to our water resources and so to our tourist industry lies within ourselves. But similarly it is with us that the solution rests.

Early this summer a group of housewives from the Haliburton area decided to take action against the sale of phosphate detergents. Their reasoning was that if no high phosphate products were sold in the Haliburton area, permanent and summer residents would switch to less harmful laundry cleansers rather than drive out of the area to obtain their regular brand. Such a boycott would attract favourable public attention to Haliburton and would demonstrate that the residents of the area were intelligently concerned about the preservation of water resources.

Unfortunately not all area merchants have the good of their community foremost in their minds. Easton's "Red & White" Store continues to carry high phosphate detergents in large quantities and has been unable to obtain any of the new non-phosphate detergents now on the market. Miller's General Store will also continue to carry high phosphate detergents. The management of both these stores feel that they must carry what the customer wants to buy.

In contrast to these businesses is Onell's I.G.A. which is stocking three brands of non-phosphate detergents and three brands of laundry soaps in a variety of sizes. In addition this store has discontinued stocking high phosphate detergents. However, some phosphate detergents and some cleaning products containing dangerously high phosphate levels are still being stocked and sold.

Rex Boice, owner of the Speed Wash Laundromat, is presently engaged in efforts to obtain low phosphate detergents in containers that will fit his vending machines. He is well aware of the dangers of phosphate pollution and supports our campaign.

Highest praise must go to Al Bagg's Eagle Lake General Store, Wright's Marina, Family Meat Market, and Suter's Hilltop Market, all of which have agreed to discontinue ordering products containing more than a negligible amount of phosphates and which are carrying in their place soaps and non-phosphate detergents. Wright's Marina had instituted this policy before our campaign was begun.

It is our aim to attract attention to the whole area of water, air and land pollution by this campaign against one aspect of it. We feel that each individual must become aware that his personal happiness and well-being is threatened by a polluted environment and that only he can protect that environment.

Hopefully the people of the Haliburton area will support our efforts to protect and preserve our surroundings by purchasing non-phosphate cleansers and by patronizing those stores that sell them.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Heather M. Gardiner.

Editor's Note: Mrs. Gardiner also asked that a list of phosphate levels in products be published, which we hope to have next week.
